RAJYA SABHA

The following Bill was introduced in the Rajya Sabha on the 29th August, 1958:—

BILL NO. III OF 1958

A Bill to amend the Companies Act, 1956.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Ninth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the Companies (Amendment) Act, 1958.

Amendment of section 293. 2. In section 293 of the Companies Act, 1956, in sub-section (1), after clause (e), the following proviso shall be inserted, namely:— 1 of 1956.

"Provided that no contribution shall be made to the fund of any political party or to the election fund of any candidate for the purpose of election to Parliament, or a State Legislature, or a Territorial Council."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

A number of big business houses have been liberally contributing to the funds of political parties. In their recent judgments, the Bombay and Calcutta High Courts have drawn particular attention to the undesirability of such practice. It is, therefore, considered necessary that clause (e) of sub-section (1) of section 293 of the Companies Act, 1956, which enables companies to contribute to charitable and other funds should be suitably amended to prevent such contributions being made to political parties. The Bill seeks to achieve this object.

LOK SABHA

The following Bill was introduced in Lok Sabha on the 22nd August, 1958:—

BILL NO. 64 OF 1958

A Bill further to amend the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Ninth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

t title com- ce t

1. (1) This Act may be called the Industrial Disputes (Amendment) Act, 19 .

(2) It shall come into force at once.

nd t of ion 33.

2. In clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (hereinafter referred to as the principal Act), after the words "whether by dismissal" the words "or suspension without pay extending for more than a month" shall be inserted. 14 of 1947.

nd- t of cond ule.

3. In the second schedule to the principal Act, after item number 5, the following item shall be inserted and numbered as item 6 of that schedule and item number 6 of that schedule shall be renumbered as item number 7,—

"6. If any dispute arises regarding the representative character and recognition of any Union."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Various Industrial Tribunals following the decision of the Supreme ourt in the case of Lakshmi Devi Sugar Mills versus Ram Sarup and hers, reported in the A.I.R. 1957, February, page 82, have held that spension without pay during the pendency of any proceeding before an industrial tribunal is not a substantive punishment and as such it does not attract section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. Taking advantage of this legal lacuna the employers are keeping employees under suspension without pay, if they desire, for months together till the proceedings before the National Tribunal are over in order to avoid the obligation of taking permission from the Tribunal.

2. Secondly, the Tribunals following the decision of the Supreme Court in the case referred to above have expressed their helplessness in many awards regarding dispute over recognition of any Union, though of representative character, in the absence of any provision empowering them to deal with this dispute.

Hence this Bill.

LOK SABHA

The following Bill was introduced in Lok Sabha on the 22nd August, 1958:—

BILL NO. 69 OF 1958

A Bill further to amend the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Ninth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Workmen's Compensation (Amendment) Act, 19 .

(2) It shall come into force at once.

Amendment of the Schedule I

2. In the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, for the Schedule I, the following Schedule shall be substituted, namely:—

"SCHEDULE I

[See Sections 2(1) and 4.]

List of injuries deemed to result in permanent/partial disablement

Injury	Percentage of loss of earning capacity
Loss of right arm above or below the elbow	90
Loss of left arm above or below the elbow	80
Loss of leg above or below the knee	80
Permanent total loss of hearing	70
Loss of one eye	50
Loss of thumb or any phalanx of thumb	45
Loss of all toes of one foot	40
Loss of index finger	30
Loss of great toe	30
Loss of any finger or any phalanx of any finger other than index finger	25."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The rate of compensation as given in the Schedule I of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, computed in 1923 was based on the then financial circumstances of the country. About 35 years have passed since then and the financial circumstances including cost of living index have changed, but this chart has not been revised. Moreover some items of compensation also require deletion. There is no justification in the retention of the differences in the rates of compensation for the loss of hand just above the elbow and for the loss of a hand just below the elbow.

Hence this Bill.

20. In Schedule IV to the principal Act, the words "of Adult" wherever they occur, shall be omitted. Amendment of Schedule IV.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, which came into force on the 1st July, 1924, has been amended several times, the major amendments being as follows:—

Act V of 1929 inter alia enlarged the categories of workmen, removed the restrictions on compensation in the building trades and altered the provisions relating to the distribution of compensation. In 1933, the Act was revised extensively on the lines recommended by the Royal Commission on Labour in India in 1931; the main amendments carried out were, a considerable enlargement in the number of workmen covered by the Act, increase in the scales of compensation and reduction of the "waiting period". By the amending Act I of 1946, the wage limit of workers covered by the Act was increased from Rs. 300 to Rs. 400.

2. The working of the Act has shown that it requires to be further amended in certain respects. Some of the important amendments the Bill seeks to make relate to:—

(a) removing the distinction between an adult and a minor for the purposes of workmen's compensation;

(b) reducing the waiting period of seven days to five days for being entitled to compensation and, in cases where the period of disablement is twenty-eight days or more, providing for payment of compensation from the date of disablement;

(c) providing for penalty for failure to pay compensation, when due;

(d) enlarging the scope of Schedules I, II and III.

3. The reasons for the amendments are, wherever necessary, given in the notes on clauses attached to this Bill.

G. L. NANDA

NEW DELHI;
The 16th September, 1958.

Notes on clauses

Clause 2.—This clause removes the distinction between an adult and a minor for the purpose of workmen's compensation. At present the Act prescribes different rates of compensation for adults and minors for death and permanent disablement on the ground that a minor will have, as a general rule, no dependants. There is not much justification for this distinction and it is reasonable that there should be uniform rates of compensation for workmen in similar wage-groups.

Though for purposes of payment of compensation the distinction between an adult and a minor is being removed, for other purposes a "minor" will have the normal meaning, namely, a person who has not attained the age of 18 years.

Reference to a foreign Act in clause (i) has been omitted, being unnecessary.

Clause 3.—This clause reduces the waiting period of 7days to 5 days as prescribed in the I.L.O. Convention on Workmen's Compensation (Accidents), 1925. It also empowers the Commissioner to apportion the liability for compensation between different employers in certain cases where the workman has been employed in the same employment for a specified continuous period under more than one employer.

Clause 4.—The amendments are mostly consequential. In clause 3(1) it has been proposed to reduce the waiting period to 5 days. No compensation will therefore be payable in respect of this period. In order, however, to reduce the hardship of a workman in case he suffers an injury which incapacitates him for four weeks or more, a provision is being made for payment of compensation for the waiting period also.

A provision is also being made that where an employer spends any sum of money on the medical treatment of an injured workman, he should not be permitted to deduct the amount from the compensation payable. The compensation is for loss of future earnings and not for getting medical treatment.

Clause 5.—This provision is being made in order to ensure that the workman is able to get whatever amount the employer is prepared to pay immediately pending a decision on the amount of compensation actually due.

This clause also provides for payment of interest if the compensation is not paid within one month from the due date and for a penalty if the Commissioner does not consider the delay to be justified.

Clause 6.—This amendment is intended to facilitate calculation of monthly wages where there are difficulties in calculating it under clause (b) of section 5.

Clause 7.—At the existing level of prices, the limit of Rs. 25 for grant of advances for funeral expenses is very low and it is accordingly being increased to Rs. 50.

Clause 8. The limitation period of one year for preferring a claim before the Commissioner is not sufficient as the worker often fails to file a claim in time due to his remaining in hospital for treatment and then petitioning the employer for settlement of his dues with the result that by the time he thinks of legal remedies the time-limit of one year is over. It is proposed accordingly to increase the period of limitation to two years.

Clause 9.—It is proposed that accidents resulting in serious bodily injury should also be reported to the authority concerned. At present only fatal accidents are being reported under section 10B.

Clause 10.—This clause seeks to protect the interests of a workman who is entitled to compensation in the event of the employer transferring his assets before discharging his liability under the Act.

Clause 11.—This clause, like clause 8, increases the limitation period and empowers the Commissioner to extend the period of limitation in suitable cases if he is satisfied that the failure to prefer the claim was due to sufficient cause.

Clause 12.—This is consequential to the amendment proposed to section 2(1) (a).

Clause 13.—The amount of fine is too low and it is proposed to increase it to Rs. 500. This is also the limit of fine under the Employees' State Insurance Act, 1948.

Clause 14.—It is intended that an Inspector appointed under the Factories Act, 1948, or Mines Act, 1952 or any other officer specified by the State Government should be enabled to prefer claims on behalf of the workmen or the dependants concerned if authorised in writing. This will be of help to the workmen or the dependants who are ignorant of the protection afforded under the Act or are otherwise unable to set the law in motion.

Clause 15.—As a provision has been made in clause 5(3) for payment of interest or penalty for failure to pay the compensation when due, it is proposed to provide for an appeal under section 30 against such order.

Clause 16.—Display of abstracts from the Act will be of help to the workers in informing them of the protection afforded to them under the Act. This clause also enables the State Government to make rules for prescribing the manner in which diseases may be diagnosed and certified and incapacity assessed.

Clause 17.—Schedule I as a whole is outmoded and not in conformity with present day standards of assessing disabilities. The Schedule in the National Insurance (Industrial Injuries) Benefit Regulations, 1948, of the U.K. is more modern and it is proposed to adopt it.

Clause 18.—(i) Clause (i).—A person employed on loading or unloading a vehicle may be said to be employed in connection with its operation. This is, however, proposed to be made clear beyond doubt.

Clause (ii).—It is proposed to cover all workmen working in power using factories irrespective of the number of workmen employed.

Clause (iii).—This clause relates to factories not using power. Under the Factories Act, 1948, factories employing 20 or more persons are covered. Workmen in all such factories are proposed to be covered.

Clause (iv).—As there is a considerable risk in the manufacturing or handling of explosives, all workmen engaged in any such work are proposed to be covered irrespective of the number of persons employed.

Clause (v).—Amendments consequential to the Mines Act, 1952, having replaced the Indian Mines Act, 1923, are being made. It is also intended that all workers in mines should be entitled to the benefits of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923.

Clause (vi).—At present the master and seamen of ships of less than 50 tons are excluded unless power is used. The I.L.O. Convention on "shipowners' liability in respect of Sickness Injury or Death of Seamen" permits exclusion of boats of less than 25 gross tonnage. The tonnage limit in sub-clause (b) is accordingly proposed to be reduced to 25 tons.

In accordance with the recommendation made by the Estimates Committee in its 62nd Report on "Shipping", the Act is being made applicable to all sea-going sailing vessels.

Clause (vii).—Certain classes of workers in Ports engaged in hazardous occupations are not covered by the Act. It is proposed to bring such classes of workers also within the purview of the Act.

Clause (viii).—Workers employed in maintenance of buildings also run a risk like workers engaged in repairing and it is accordingly proposed to cover them.

The present height limit of twenty feet is high, and a demand for the removal of height limits has been made. But since the hazard is in the height at which a worker is required to work, some height limit is necessary. It is accordingly proposed to reduce the height limit to twelve feet.

Work in a canal is also hazardous and it is proposed to make it clear that workers engaged in the construction, etc., of a canal are also covered.

Clause (ix).—The clause as revised is intended to cover persons employed in the routine work of repairing and replacing electric cables and other fittings.

(ii) Telegraphists and postal and railway signallers are proposed to be included as their work is also hazardous.

(iii) The limit of 50 persons is too high and it is proposed to reduce it to 25. Further in accordance with the reduction in the height limit in clause (viii) from twenty feet to twelve feet, the depth limit in this clause is proposed to be similarly reduced.

(iv) The limit of one hundred persons with respect to employment in a market is too high and it is proposed to reduce it to fifty persons.

(v) In all the employments mentioned in this sub-clause there is considerable employment risk and it is accordingly proposed to cover workmen working in such employments.

Clause 19.—The Schedule requires a few modifications to bring it in line with the provisions of Convention (42) concerning Workmen's Compensation (Occupational Diseases). It also does not include some of the prevailing occupational diseases. It is proposed to remove these deficiencies.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

The Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, covers a large number of persons in Central Government undertakings such as the railways, posts and telegraphs, construction works, etc. Some of the amendments proposed in the Bill will have the effect of increasing the liability of the employers (including the Central Government) for payment of compensation. Clause 5 of the Bill seeks to provide a penalty for failure to pay compensation when due with the result that the employer will have to pay increased amounts in cases where payment of compensation has been delayed for more than a month. Clause 17 contemplates replacement of Schedule I by a more comprehensive Schedule which will increase the percentage of disablement and will correspondingly increase the rates of compensation for the various types of injuries. The amendments proposed to Schedule II to the Act will make the Act applicable to an increased number of persons in factories, mines, ports, construction works and also to persons employed in manufacture, etc., of aircraft, in farming by tractors, in construction, working, repair or maintenance of tube-wells, etc. Schedule III to the Act, which contains a list of occupational diseases, is proposed to be amended and enlarged with the result that compensation will be payable in respect of the new diseases being included in that Schedule. The above proposals will thus involve increased expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India in so far as they concern the Central Government undertakings. As compensation becomes payable only in the event of an employment injury resulting in disablement or death, it is not possible to estimate the amount of increased expenditure.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

The Workmen's Compensation Act is administered by the State Governments. Clause 16 of the Bill amplifies the rule-making power conferred on the State Governments by section 32 of the principal Act. The matters specified in clause 16 are of a routine and general character; they provide for requiring the employers to display notices containing abstracts from the Act and for the diagnosis and certification of diseases and for the method by which incapacity for the purposes of this Act may be assessed.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

As a result of the experience gained in the working of the Cinematograph Act, 1952, for the last six years, it is considered necessary to make certain changes in its provisions for clarification, without making any substantial change in the working of the present Act.

Section 3 of the Cinematograph Act, 1952, empowers the Central Government to constitute a Board of Film Censors consisting of such number of persons as may be prescribed for the purpose of examining and certifying films as suitable for public exhibition. The films are examined by the regional officers with the aid of the advisory panels consisting of non-officials. The composition of the Board, the constitution of the advisory panels and the procedure for examination of films by the regional officers with the aid of the advisory panels are at present laid down in the Rules. The Bill makes express provisions in this behalf in the principal Act. It also incorporates the principles for guidance in certifying films, based on the provisions of article 19(2) of the Constitution. In addition, the Bill makes provision for certain matters of a procedural and routine character

NEW DELHI; B. V. KESKAR.

The 8th December, 1958.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

The Bill seeks to include express provisions in the principal Act, respecting the composition of the Board of Film Censors and the constitution of advisory panels to enable the Board to perform its functions of sanctioning films for public exhibition. As at present the Chairman will continue to be a wholetime official and the members will be non-officials, working part-time in an honorary capacity. They will be paid travelling allowance only for attending meetings in connection with the work of Board. The advisory panels have been constituted at present at Bombay Calcutta and Madras under the Rules framed under the Act. Their membership is also honorary, but conveyance allowance at the rate of Rs. 10 per diem is paid to them for attending film shows or meetings convened by regional officers in connection with the examination of films. The annual expenditure on the salary of the Chairman, the travelling allowance of the members of the Board and conveyance allowance of the members of the advisory panels is estimated at Rs. 90,000. The expenditure on these items is already being incurred through appropriations made by Parliament, and no additional expenditure is anticipated

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 4 of the Bill provides for the determination by the Central Government of the salary and allowances payable to the Chairman and the fees or allowances to the other members of the Board of Film Censors and to the members of the advisory panels. It also provides for determination of other terms and conditions of service of the members of the Board and the advisory panels. It empowers the Central Government to prescribe the manner in which applications shall be made to the Board for certification of films. The rule making power already conferred by section 8 of the Act is sufficiently comprehensive to enable all such matters being regulated by Rules. All that the amending Bill seeks to do is to refer to these topics in the body of the Act in appropriate places. The rule making power is of a normal character.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Bill is largely based on the recommendations of the Advisory Board appointed by the Government of India in 1953 to suggest amendments to the Indian Electricity Act, 1910 (hereinafter referred to as the Act). In making these recommendations, the Board had, besides consulting the State Governments, given careful consideration to the views of the private sector of the electricity supply industry.

2. The main objects of the Bill are:—

(a) to enlarge the scope of facilities available to consumers of electricity;

(b) to extend the same facilities to consumers served by a Government Electricity Department, as are enjoyed by consumers of private licensees and State Electricity Boards;

(c) to exercise stricter control over licensees;

(d) to take powers to regulate the distribution, supply, consumption and use of energy in certain circumstances; and

(e) to provide for the inspection of electric works and installations of the Central Government.

3. With a view to making it easier for even scattered consumers to obtain the supply of electricity, the minimum number of persons entitled to get the mains extended to their premises at the licensee's cost is being reduced from six to two. Under the existing provisions of the Act, the gross revenue to be guaranteed by a consumer before receiving the supply of electricity is not definite and varies from undertaking to undertaking. Such gross revenue is now being specified as 15 per cent. of the cost of distribution mains (excluding the equipment in the sub-station) required for compliance with the requisition for supply of electricity. This figure is based on the average revenue actually guaranteed by a large majority of consumers of electricity in the country.

4. Persons served by licensees or State Electricity Boards, are entitled to certain statutory rights and privileges in respect of extension of the distribution mains, requisitioning the supply of energy and meters, supply of energy for public lighting and freedom to use the energy in a prescribed manner. Although the Government Electricity Departments generally extend similar facilities to their consumers, no statutory obligation is imposed upon them in this behalf. It is accordingly proposed to give the same rights to consumers of a Government Electricity Department as are enjoyed by those receiving supply from a State Electricity Board.

5. Control over licensees is being tightened by empowering the State Government to forfeit the security deposit of a licensee on account of his failure to complete within the period specified in the licence, compulsory works referred to in the Schedule to the Act Inspectors appointed to investigate the causes of an electrical accident are being vested with powers of a civil court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for the purpose of compelling attendance of witnesses and production of documents, etc.

6. Difficulty is often experienced on account of a licensee neglecting to supply energy promptly to essential services. It is, therefore, proposed to empower State Governments to direct a licensee to supply and to continue to maintain the supply of energy, to essential services within his area of supply. Any dispute with respect to the price or other terms and conditions governing such supply shall be settled by arbitration. With a view to maintaining the supply and equitable distribution of energy, the State Governments are also being empowered to regulate the distribution, supply, consumption or use of energy.

7. In view of the increasing share of the Central Government in the field of generation and utilisation of electricity, it has been found necessary, for ensuring the safety of life and property, to subject their installations in all fields, to inspection and tests, similar to those prescribed in the case of the installations in mines and railways. It is, therefore, proposed to authorise the Central Government, to appoint inspectors with powers exercisable by electrical inspectors for mines and railways under the existing provisions of the Act, in respect of all other electric installations under the control of the Central Government.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Indian Arms Act at present in force was enacted eighty years ago (Act 11 of 1878), for consolidating and amending the then existing laws of control of arms and ammunition. Certain amendments have since been made and the Government have since the achievement of independence followed a liberal policy in the administration of the Indian Arms Act and the Rules framed thereunder. The present Bill seeks in the main to liberalise the licensing provisions and to reduce the inconvenience to the public to the minimum, while at the same time keeping in view the overall demands of public security and the maintenance of public order.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 44 of the Arms Bill, 1958, empowers the Central Government to make rules to carry out the purpose of the Act, and the various matters in respect of which such rules may be made have been specified in sub-clause (2) of that clause. They relate inter alia to the appointment, jurisdiction, control and functions of licensing authorities; applications for grant or renewal of licences; conditions of granting or refusing, renewing, varying, suspending or revoking licences, fees for licences; the procedure for stamping the identification marks on firearms and their test or proof, conditions for use of a 22 bore rifle or an air rifle by a person between fourteen years and eighteen years of age in the course of training; the appellate authority and its procedure; entry and inspection by any police officer or specially empowered officer of any premises or other place in which arms, ammunition or military stores are manufactured, or stored; and the conditions of depositing arms, ammunition and military stores with a licenced dealer or in a police station or a unit armoury. These are either matters of procedure or matters of administrative detail and rules with respect thereto will be necessary for the day-to-day administration of the Act. Moreover, the rules to be made by the Central Government are to be laid before each House of Parliament as soon as they are made and shall be subject to such modifications as Parliament may make during the session in which they are so laid or the session immediately following. The delegation of legislative powers is thus of a normal character.

ECTORATE OF AGRICULTURE, WEST BENGAL

Calcutta, the 8th November 1958

Forecast of Jute Crop of West Bengal (including transferred territories from Bihar) for 1958-59.

Vote.—The estimates of acreage and production of jute for this year shown in this forecast are based on the results of random sample surveys and crop-cutting experiments conducted by the State Statistical Bureau, West Bengal. The estimates of acreage and production of last year are also based on sample survey and crop-cutting experiments except for areas transferred from Bihar, the figures whereof were roughly estimated on the basis of available information.)

Season.—In the main Jute growing districts e.g., 24-Parganas, Nadia, Murshidabad, Hooghly, West Dinajpur, Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling and Cooch Behar, weather and its effect were generally favourable for the growth of the crop. There was some damage to the crop owing to flood in the districts of Murshidabad, Malda and Midnapore.

Area and yield.—875,800 acres were under jute crop this year as against 758,900 acres last year. The total production of jute fibres was 2,596,100 bales as against 1,829,600 bales last year.

The average yield of jute fibre per acre was 2.96 bales this year as against 2.41 bales last year.

DIRECTORATE OF AGRICULTURE, WEST BENGAL

Calcutta, the 14th February 1959

Final Forecast of Autumn Rice Crop of West Bengal for 1958-59

(Note.—The estimates of acreage and yield rate of autumn rice both for last year and this year shown in this forecast are based on the results of random sample surveys and crop-cutting experiments conducted by the State Statistical Bureau, West Bengal.)

Season.—Droughty conditions prevailed in most of the districts at the sowing time. The subsequent weather conditions also were not favourable for the growth of the crop. We received reports of attack of insect pests from 24-Parganas Jalpaiguri, West Dinajpur and Cooch Behar.

Area and yield.—1,272,500 acres were under autumn rice this year. Last year the area under autumn rice was 1,349,500 acres, the fall in acreage might to some extent be due to diversion of paddy land to jute cultivation. The total out turn of the crop for the State as a whole in terms of cleaned rice was estimated at 330,300 tons this year as against 404,200 tons of last year.

The average yield of cleaned rice per acre for the State as a whole was estimated at 7.07 maunds this year compared to 8.15 maunds of last year.

D. BASU,
for Director of Agriculture, West Bengal.

DIRECTORATE OF AGRICULTURE, WEST BENGAL

Calcutta, the 20th February 1959

Third and Final Forecast of Winter Rice Crop of West Bengal (including transferred territories from Bihar) for 1958-59

[Notes.—The estimates of acreage and yield rates of winter rice for both last year and this year except those of Darjeeling district shown in this forecast are based on the results of random sample surveys and crop-cutting experiments conducted by the State Statistical Bureau, West Bengal. As the sample surveys do not cover the hilly subdivisions of Darjeeling district, the estimates of this district for both last year and this year have been prepared on the basis of sample survey estimates for Siliguri subdivision and Directorate's estimate in respect of other (i.e., hilly) subdivisions of the district.]

Season.—Rainfall was particularly uneven this year in its distribution over region and over time. While there was plentiful rainfall in the period of transplantation in northern districts, drought condition prevailed in other districts. As a result, the sowing and transplantation of the crop were greatly hampered in these districts. Quite a large area remained untransplanted even after mid-August and the prospect of winter rice crop looked for a while very gloomy indeed. However, with showers falling later, there was a brisk attempt to transplant as much aman area as possible in the districts affected by drought. The subsequent conditions of weather were favourable and, as a result, the size of harvest has not been very unsatisfactory in spite of late transplantation which could have affected the rates of yield more.

As stated above, the northern districts, i.e., Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, Malda, West Dinajpur and Cooch Behar received good rainfall from the beginning and its effect on the cultivation and growth of the crop was particularly favourable.

Area and Yield.—The area under winter rice has been estimated at 9,213,500 acres this year as against 9,514,400 acres, last year's revised estimate adjusted for the inclusion of territories transferred from Bihar.

The yield rate of winter rice per acre for the State as a whole has been estimated at 10.95 maunds this year as against 11.12 maunds of last year.

The total production of cleaned rice has been estimated at 3,707,800 tons this year against 3,887,300 tons, the revised estimate of last year adjusted for the inclusion of transferred territories from Bihar.

The decrease in acreage and yield rate may be attributed to late rains.

D. BASU,
for Director of Agriculture, West Bengal.
